

LOCKLEED NEWS

ANNOUNCEMENT

LockLeed Logistics

LockLeed International continues to build on our family of companies dedicated to helping military service members and Veterans in their search for career success.

James "Jim" Walker, US Army veteran, leads LockLeed Logistics

James Walker, a US Army veteran, leads our Logistics team focused on placing veteran/military professionals in a variety of industries including supply chain, logistics, transportation, freight, manufacturing, distribution and technology.

We recognize that the military/veteran community has an expansive network in the supply chain, transportation and logistics industries. Clients and the veterans we serve drove us to add this recruitment resource. We're relaunching it this month, with a renewed focus, building on our momentum over the past two years.

This division augments our 360° strategy with three operating companies (LockLeed International, LockLeed Logistics and Talent Force) under the umbrella of Gemini Workforce Solutions. It serves to renew the foundation of our targeted approach to provide companies with the best candidates and fill their roles with veterans who have the skills to succeed.

Our clients will benefit from

- Access to 220K+ military members transitioning out of service annually.
- Access to 2.9M active-duty military personnel.
- Access to 100+ military units in Minnesota; 20K currently serving.
- Access to 50K+ active candidates in our database.
- Access to military service members at installations across the globe.
- Unlimited postings on LockLeed's job board with 20K+ international views monthly.
- Recruiting events with our partners, including DAV, MAC-V, VA and HireVets.

An additional benefit for companies: We provide the opportunity for you to market your company as a veteran-forward organization. For example, a company can assert, "We allocate XX% of our budget to hiring veterans!" This is a differentiator in the talent recruitment and retention process and highlights your desire to provide meaningful employment opportunities to those who have served our country.

Jim was a supply specialist and made three deployments over 10 years. His civilian background includes 18 years in the freight forwarding industry with roles including Vice President of National Operations and is a great resource to provide veterans who are qualified to fill your supply chain roles.

"There's not much that veterans get when they leave the military (it makes no sense), so this is a way for me to give back to them and also build on the success of LockLeed."

JAMES WALKER, LOCKLEED LOGISTICS

"As we approach shipping season LockLeed Logistics is a great resource for companies involved in every type of commerce and positions us as one of the top placement resources in the country."

FOR VETERANS

Veteran Resources

We served too. We know how hard it can be to know where to turn. There are incredible resources available to Veterans, transitioning service members and military families. The challenge is knowing where to find them. That is why we keep building LockLeed's Veteran Resources, to make it easier for our community to find the support, information, people and opportunities they have earned.

Stay connected.
Know what's out there.

More than just jobs
